Assembly Republicans Hold Over 100 Budget Listening Sessions Across State

Madison – On the heels of the Legislative Fiscal Bureau's (LFB) projection of a $499 million positive balance, the Joint Finance Committee (JFC) has hit the road to hold public hearings in the proverbial "four corners of the state."

In addition to the hearings held by the JFC, Assembly Republicans are holding numerous budget listening sessions of their own throughout the state.

Public hearings and listening sessions are an important part of the budget process; those hoping to make their voice heard should contact their state legislator to find out more about a listening session in their area.

The following map shows the locations of over 100 listening sessions Assembly Republicans are holding this budget season:
